

Who are we looking for?

GIS Professional: students, graduates or experts at any level that could support us to deliver a real major city centre cartography project and knowledge transfer to an urban transport authority. The project will run for the next 4-6 months. We will compensate the GIS person commensurately with their experience.

About the project:

We currently have a fantastic project for Greater Manchester to develop their City Centre pedestrian wayfinding and multimodal transport information system. We have been working on this project for a year, and have most all of the content and styling developed. This system will be constructed in the next few months as pilot pedestrian wayfinding totem and mapping system in central Manchester.

We have 74 maps to roll out in GIS to export to Illustrator, and need some strong GIS support in our office! .We have already developed the look and feel of the maps through some initial GIS exports, and have styles set up in QGIS. We already have graphic designers working on this, and have selected all of the content and have prototype maps.

This is a chance to work on a great project that will be realised and public within 6 months. We are looking for some great and passionate cartography people, with opportunities to work with us on future projects as well.
